PAGE NO. 2
ENRICHING OUR TRADITIONAL VALUES WITH MOGLY'S.
GURUKUL

In a judgement, running into 1050 pages, the apex judiciary body has taken almost 7 decades, for the Babri Masjia-Ram Janambhoomi litigation to come close to the ultimate show down. This is one of the oldest cases that the supreme court has ever judged. The lawyer representing the Hindus has provided a better testimony of continuous and active worship as compared to the Muslims.

The evidence provided by the Muslim has been countered by a report submitted by the Archaeological Survey Of India (ASI) which provided evidence of the remains of the building (which is surely not Islamic) beneath the demolished mosque. The Constitution Bench, led by the Chief justice Of India, Rajan Gogi, noted that the faith of Hindu believes the fact that Lord Rama was born at the site of the demolished masjid is undisputed but the proved existence of a magnificent and vivid structure like Sita Rasoi and Ram Chabutua are strong testimony to the religious fact of the place. Muslims, claimed that in 1528, the first Mughal Emperor Babar had constructed the Babri Masjid. Later, on December 23rd,1949, Idols of Lord Rama were mysteriously found inside the mosque.

Critics of the verdict have argued that the supreme court which is the highest judiciary authority has relied on 'Faith' instead of 'Facts'. The judgement done has sided with the majority. Have we forgotten that India is a sovereign country where every citizen of the country has a 'Right to Equality'. Even though this is democracy, it makes me feel ashamed to say that favouritism still exists.

The judgement of the Ayodhya Verdict has triggered communal riots that involved several parts of India which again resulted the disruption of the state's peace and separation on the religious ground and ideals. Does India actually pursue the principal of secularism as stated in the holy preamble?

Lastly, I would like to question every individual of the country - Will faith and religious beliefs of communities be the grounds for settling land titles? Will this be cited to settled other similar arguments that will arise further?

I am sure there are no easy answers at the moment.

ENRICHING OUR TRADITIONAL VALUES WITH MOGLY GURUKUL

TOT: What are your views on the havan which was conducted today ?

TMG: I felt like I was sitting amongst little Rishi munis's who held such a divine energy, enlightened by the mantras.

TOT: What is the main idea behind the entire Mogly's Gurukul ?

TMG: Inculcating valuable education to the kids in the most fun learning way. Reminiscing back to our spring times, I remember the boredom we faced while chanting mantras that we had no clue about. So, with the help of the Mogly Gurukul we have introduced a more interactive and modern way of learning traditional values for the youth of today, so they imbibe by these values in their day to day life. We have kids ranging from the age of 8 months old to adults of 80 years old, so you can imagine the impact we have left on society. We try to mould our students in virtuous ways which they can take back home. Most of us have forgotten our roots and have rather accustomed ourselves with western culture, this Gurukul helps you reconnect with your origin and recognise your strength lying within your roots. She says, one is more than just a boy or a girl, rich or poor or has potential that cannot be described by academics, the power of an individual is indescribable.

TOT: What was the motive behind addressing the foundation " Mogly Gurukul " ?

TMG: The character Mogly from the ' Jungle Book ' has been the most captivating amongst all the others. He belongs from the jungle and learns how to adjust to the frightful world. Gurukul, since in our opinion everybody is a guru. We learn from everybody as each one of us have something special which we can acquire.

TOT: The usage of technology causes a lot of distraction but do you suggest completely cutting off from it ?

TMG: We have always tried adapting to the recent technologies because in the 21st century, each individual is needed to be connected and updated with their surroundings. If used for justified purposes, it can take us places and vice-versa.

TOT: What are your achievable aims and future prospects towards the society ?

TMG: I aim to empower everyone and help everybody become emotionally strong. No child should be left unheard or unseen as each one of us hold an opinion. I also want everyone to remain happy despite the negativity externalised and should also not affect the child in the longer run. Be self sufficient and jovial.

FAILURES ARE THE PILLARS OF SUCCESS

~Kanan

Failure is the condition or fact of not achieving the desired end. Failure is our best teacher and act as mirror to show us our true self. Every successful man fails at some point in his life but failure also help you recognise your weaknesses and lack of preparations or effort, so if you can manage to learn from your mistakes, you might be able to fulfil your goals. Making a mistake is not a crime, the ability to learn from it can contribute to your success. Facing failure makes one stronger, wiser and more resolute and will encourage one to make greater efforts. It encourages everyone to try again with more preparation and hard work and acts as a stepping stones to success. One who doesn't give up is always better than the one who does, only the one who keeps trying will have a chance at success. Failure makes us capable of evaluating ourselves in order to reach a higher level. If you have a will to succeed then be prepared to pay the price for it which might include facing disappointment and setbacks but try being persistent with your efforts till the goal is achieved.

CAUTION: EXAM FEVER

~ Indian Rupunzel

Talk about exam pressure! Hey y'all missed me? The Final term is here and we're just chilling. It doesn't really feel like exams are approaching. Not to forget never ending homework. Asking teachers small doubts you have is suddenly now a crime. Alright bruh you taught us this already but maybe it slipped our minds. Do we need to get our priorities straight? yes. Will we? hmmm. Depends on who you talk about. There are people who cry on getting 92% and there are those celebrating on 40%. Things always go down, examination time don't they? Teachers tell us to make it like Elsa and LET IT GO, but its not so easy. They can't expect us to have no friends and study all day. We need to breathe a little. Others, breathe a tiny bit too much. Let's take an example of someone who we're very familiar with: SW. Rather than studying, she had a very tempting session with her one and only smh. What do you have to say about this TG? Itty bitty piece of advice to y'all; at-least study to a point where you wont fail instead of caressing someone in the washroom stalls.

WORN OUT TOOL: 'FAITH'

~ Twisha Chauhan & Melissa

A wise man once said," there's no elevator to success, you have to take stairs." Success is achieved by all, whether they are winners or losers. Winners; because they have tasted victory. Losers because they have felt the unforgettable pain of losing which has bought them a step closer to victory. Our life frames the chronicle stairs of success. The stars are surely broken and we are only left with one worn out tool which is "FAITH". Further, we have a perspective It is better to be worn out than to be rusted. At the end we would like to convey a small message which will help all of us to have faith in each one of us ." If you can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs and blaming it on you". If you can trust yourself when others doubt you, but make allowance for their doubting too. If you can trust yourself when others doubt you, but make allowance for their doubting too. So each and every one of us should work, build, design and finally reach the end of the stairs with Faith.

~ SILENT EYES

Sleepless nights, dark circles, not an ounce of beauty sleep, limited gossip sessions, midnight heart attacks and the most terrifying of all LOW LEVEL OF 'BP', honestly exam causes all the diseases mentioned above. However, as our head ma-panther has raised the bar of expectation to a national level, we ought to keep moving on and never give up before our heads are served on the silver platter!

Moving on, let us add some spice in your final miserable days. Are you all aware of sudden changes that had recently taken place? Like how infamous VOS turned into JOS. It shocking how the MISTARS who are known to be foodies have suddenly turned into geeks. Oops! How can we forget our dearest elder sisters who despite being under the pressure of pre boards, are spending most of their time in the green field in order to maintain their body figure to flaunt around their sarees for their final show on 5th of December.

Coming to an end, best of luck for the upcoming examinations and we are patiently waiting to see which house the glorious trophy, 'THE RAWAL' will reside.
